The Prize

To hold the Sam Maguire Cup is surely the most thrilling moment in Irish sport for any victorious county captain.

But the captain of London in the 1901 All-Ireland Finals could not in his wildest dreams have imagined that his name would be given to the most prestigious prize in Irish sport.

What happened in Cork but were played in... failed to win on... ard donated the... it become that... le reference... it's just one of the many... reasons Bank of Ireland are delighted to be sponsors... of a championship that's steeped in history which culminates each year with that magic moment... the lifting of the Sam Maguire.

celebrity the cup journeyed the length and breadth of the country until years of travelling eventually took its toll. A new Sam Maguire was introduced to replace the travel-weary original and Meath had the double honour of being the first to win the "new" cup in 1988 and last to win the original in 1987.

In total, captains of fifteen counties have lifted the Sam Maguire while last year Dublin brought the cup back to the capital after a twelve year gap.

Who will win it this year is anybody's guess.

The ultimate prize in a unique sport, it's just one of the many reasons Bank of Ireland are delighted to be sponsors of a championship that's steeped in history which culminates each year with that magic moment... the lifting of the Sam Maguire.

FOCAL ÓN UACHTARÁN

A Cháirde,

Fearaim cead míle fáilte romhaibh go leir go Paire Tighearnach Cluain Eois do chraobhacha ceannais Uladh i bpeil shinsear agus mhionuir.

Ta suil agam go mbainfidh gach einne taitneamh as an da cluiche innui.

On behalf of C.L.G. Comhairle Uladh, I extend a warm welcome to the Senior teams from Tyrone and Down and the Minor teams from Donegal and Derry; their officials and supporters as well as the many neutral supporters of C.L.G., not just from Ulster but from the other three Provinces and overseas who have joined us today to relish the unique atmosphere of Ulster Final Day.

I congratulate Tyrone, Down, Donegal, and Derry on reaching the finals, confident in the knowledge that all four have the talent to contribute to two memorable matches. The Senior Final between Tyrone and Down is a repeat of the '94 Final; my wish for today's victors is that they will go on to emulate Down's success in '94 and bring back the Sam Maguire Cup to Ulster.

The Minor Final brings together two counties most prominent at underage level in recent years - Derry, last year's beaten All-Ireland finalist with their great tradition in Colleges' competitions and Donegal with an equally impressive record in vocational schools' competitions.

My thanks to all of you who have contributed to making the '96 Championship another outstanding success - players, Club and County officials, referees, umpires and linesmen, some of whom have had to withstand unwarranted and unfair criticism for applying the rules in what were at times difficult circumstances. To our stewards at all the venues throughout the Province - your dedication on a voluntary basis has been invaluable. I would also like to include the Garda Síochána for their advice and co-operation in the smooth and safe running of our competitions.

I would like to thank the media for their generous coverage of our games - press, radio and T.V. - all have contributed in a fair and positive manner to the development of our games in the Province.

We welcome the representatives of our main sponsors, the Bank of Ireland, whose generous support of our games is greatly appreciated.

Despite the intense rivalry and competitiveness of our Ulster Football Championship, our games continue to be played in a sporting manner. In recent years, however, there is a tendency for the victorious supporters to converge on the pitch at the end of the game. I would earnestly request that these supporters would refrain from crowding round the presentation rostrum, avoiding discomfort and danger to players, and children who inevitably join in the celebrations. Your team has won the Anglo Celt Cup - they deserve their presentation in comfort and safety.

Buiochas díbh uile as uct bhur dtachaíochta. I know that in the future you and others will continue the work with the same fervour and keep C.L.G. in the forefront of service to the young people of our country.

Pete McGrath

Ulster Final day sees the climax of another campaign of frenetic Championship endeavour in what is the most competitive of all the Provincial contests.

Both Tyrone and ourselves have got this far on merit and have shown the qualities of skill, resilience and courage.

Both teams are capable of playing attractive, effective football.

Both teams contain high calibre exciting players.

I am certain that all these factors will shine through to-day to make this another memorable Ulster Final in the tradition of so many in years gone by.

Eugene McKenna

Art McRory and myself are proud to be involved with the present Tyrone team which today takes part in the Ulster Final for the the third time in as many years and hopefully becomes the first team to retain the title since 1976.

Championship games are never easy and they didn't come any more difficult than meeting Down in a final. With their recent All-Ireland success Down are more experienced but our boys have developed a tremendous will to win. It should add up to a great Ulster Final to-day.

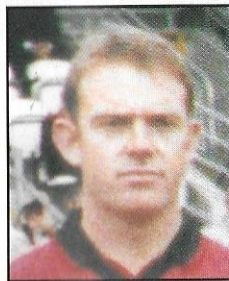

We hope that the dedication and commitment to training which our players have given since January will be rewarded to-day with a display which is good enough to retain the Anglo Celt Cup

Mickey McVeigh

Mickey made his senior club debut in 1990 for Castlewellan against Glenn and this year, at 25, made his Senior County Championship debut against Donegal. He has two major disappointments ... losing the 1991 Down Senior Final against Downpatrick, and taking so long to make the County team.

However, outstanding club displays in the league and particularly in Castlewellan's back to back County Championship wins, brought him firmly to the forefront and nudged the county selectors. Breathtaking saves, commanding fielding in the small square, coolness under pressure and his trademark-colossal kick-outs - are all reasons why the 6'3", 15 stone 3lb giant is now the county's no. 1 custodian.

Mickey showed outstanding footballing skill from an early age when as a young 13 year old he won a Gold medal in the G.A.A. National Skills Awards for U-14 players. Indeed he was the only player of his age in the club to do so.

He became a goal-keeper quite by accident. Mickey was injured as an outfield player for this school team. St. Malachy's High School, Castlewellan - and his club's U-16 team were short of a goalie a couple of weeks later. Despite still carrying an injury Mickey was handed the jersey and played a stormer.

When he was told he was playing against Donegal he was absolutely delighted and considers the privilege to be one of the highlights of his career.

His other career high points are winning 2 S.F.C. with Castlewellan and he ranks the penalty save in last year's final against Downpatrick as his best save.

Mickey's burning ambition is to win an All-Ireland medal with Down. If there was an All-Ireland 'cic fada' competition maybe Mickey would have an All-Ireland medal already!

Down and Tyrone are playing for much more than the elusive Anglo Celt trophy this afternoon.

Not so long ago the Anglo Celt was an end in itself, but that's no longer the case. Now it's more akin to winning an All Ireland quarter-final en route to possible All Ireland glory.

For Ulster counties the Sam Maguire is now a very attainable goal following the marvellous and unforgettable heroics of Derry, Donegal and Down, twice, in the Nineties.

Tyrone went agonisingly close last September in their valiant bid to lift Sam for the first time and would now appear to be a more complete and rounded side.

Down though have improved with each passing game in the championship and victory today would rekindle their hopes of a sixth Sam Maguire and a third in the Nineties.

Both sides can take heart from previous championship finals. Take Tyrone in 1986 when the beat Down before losing to Kerry in the All Ireland decider.

Two seasons ago it was Down's turn. They coasted past Tyrone in the provincial decider en route to capturing a fifth Sam Maguire at the expense of Dublin.

The events of last Sunday both in Connacht and Munster would suggest that the 1996 All Ireland winners will come from the second All Ireland

A Final To Savour

(SUNDAY LIFE)

semi-final featuring Meath or Dublin against Down or Tyrone.

But who will emerge from Clones this evening with the Anglo Celt trophy and the glorious prospect of more All Ireland glory?

It's the last hurrah for some Down players and that could be the spur and motivation for one last great effort as they bid to roll back the years.

Tyrone too are equally determined to prove they can mount another genuine All Ireland bid which should make for a final to savour both today and in years to come.

FIRST AID

First Aid Cover for today's game is provided by Armagh Order of Malta personnel, complete with three manned ambulances. Their ambulances are located at the rear of the Gerry Arthurs, Pat McGrane and Eastern Stands. There are two doctors on duty in the ground. First Aid personnel are located at the four corners of the playing enclosure.

LOST CHILDREN

Lost children should be brought to designated Foróige personnel at minor dressing rooms at South Western corner of ground and at the first aid area at the rear of Gerry Arthurs Stand.

THE CAPTAINS

Mickey Linden

(Down)

To captain the Down team in a Provincial Final is for me an honour and a privilege.

The year '95/'96 has been in many ways a traumatic one for our senior football team. Relegated to Division Three of the N.F.L., crippled by injuries, the team had been written off by the pundits before a ball had been kicked in this year's Championship. Yet here we are in the Final - not by chance but as a result of the dedication and commitment by the team itself, our management, our medical staff and all of our back-up team.

I thank all of them for their efforts.

We are pitted to-day against Tyrone - a team which many believe could have and should have won an All Ireland title last year. They go into the game strong favourites but we will be hoping to make it a final that Down fans will remember with pride for a long time.

Peter Canavan

(Tyrone)

It was a great privilege to be part of the Tyrone team that played in the last 2 Ulster Finals and I am honoured to have the opportunity to lead out the team to-day.

On behalf of the players I thank the team management and everyone who helped to lift our spirits after the defeat in last year's All-Ireland Final and I hope we can reward our loyal supporters with a display which is good enough to bring the Anglo Celt Cup back to Tyrone.

DOWN'S HISTORIC TOUR

Down, Ulster and All-Ireland champions 'on the double' in 1960 and 1961, were invited to do a 'coast to coast' tour of the USA in 1962. They had just taken the NFL title as well, beating Dublin, 2-5 to 1-7, in the Final on 13th May. Two days later they were on their way as guests of the North American Board, and what a tour that turned out to be. After tours and receptions in NY, they headed for Boston, and, in their first game defeated the All American League, 4-10 to 2-5. Then, on to Chicago where they scored their second success over the All American League, 1-8 to 0-5. Third game was in Cleveland and yet another win over the All American League, 1-14 to 0-6. Philadelphia was the next port of call, and a fourth victory over the All American League, 3-11 to 0-7. The final game was in San Francisco, where they defeated a San Francisco Selection, 7-13 to 1-8. The nineteen players, all of whom played at one stage or other, were:-

HISTORIC TYRONE TOUR

As 1956 Ulster champions, Tyrone were invited to join Cork and Wexford hurling teams on the 1957 trip to New York. They thus became the first team from the Six Counties to make such a trip, and what a resounding success it turned out to be. They flew out on 29th May 1957 and their first game was at the famous Polo Grounds, where they lost narrowly, 2-9 to 1-14, to a New York Selection. Unfortunately, Iggy Jones was injured in that game and was unable to play in the remaining games. They got revenge the following Sunday when they beat New York, 1-12 to 2-6, at Gaelic Park. They later beat a Cork/Kerry team, 1-7 to 1-5, but lost the final game to NY, 1-6 to 1-10. A triumphal occasion for the Ulster champions and a memorable trip with this team:-

Adrian Cush

In 1996 Adrian Cush must have become one of the most travelled players in the country; based in London, as a purchasing officer with Powerscreen International, Adrian has shuttled home at least once a week to participate in training or matches for both his Club and the County.

He is one of the many Tír Eoghain players who has tasted success at All-Ireland level as a member of the 1991 U-21 team, and he also played in the 1990 final when the county lost against Ciarrai. Adrian has won Ulster medals at Minor and Senior levels, in 1988 and 1995 respectively, as well as Railway Cup medals in 1989 and 1994.

A former pupil of St. Patrick's Academy Dungannon he made his senior county debut away back in 1989 at the age of nineteen and has become one of the country's most prolific scorers - either from play or from the placed ball; he has been the top marks man for Tír Eoghain in 1991 and again in 1994, and but for a serious back injury two years ago he could well have topped the list in 1995 also.

Indeed injuries have disrupted Adrian's playing career on far too many occasions, none more so than prior to the 1996 All-Ireland Final when he went over on his ankle and thereby lost an opportunity to participate against Dublin. Throughout last year's championship Adrian, together with Mattie McGleenan, became known as the 'super-subs', coming into the games against Derry, Cavan and Galway to boost the team's performance with important scores and porbing runs, which assisted the progress to the All-Ireland Final.

The Donaghmore St. Patrick's clubman hopes that Tír Eoghain can maintain their winning ways by retaining their Ulster title today and perhaps to on a step further than in 1996.

International Minor Football Competition 1996

THE fifth International Minor Football Competition will take place at the Cooley Kickhams Club, Cooley, Co. Louth, over three days on August 1st, 2nd and 3rd, 1996. The preliminary rounds will be played on August 1st and 2nd and the Cup and Shield Finals will take place on Saturday, August 3rd.

The purpose of this weekend of Gaelic Football is to give meaningful competition to overseas G.A.A. Units at minor level, and to promote and encourage the games abroad — particularly among the youth.

The participating teams this year will be from London, Warwickshire, Kilkenny and New York. As in previous years a large contingent of family and supporters will also travel to Cooley to enjoy the weekend of Gaelic Football.

An integral part of the weekend activities will be a structured programme of coaching. A qualified coach will be assigned to each of the teams for the duration of the weekend and a Skills competition will also take place for the first time this year.

Dates: August 1st (Thursday); 2nd (Friday) and 3rd (Saturday).

A Struggle for Supremacy

by Adrian Logan

Been there . . . done that . . . bought the t-shirt. That just about sums up this Down team who take the field today for their third Ulster Final appearance of the nineties. During that glory period they collected two All-Ireland medals and their win in '91 was the victory which showed the way for the rest of Ulster.

This afternoon they face a Tyrone side in their third consecutive Ulster Final and a team bidding to be the first Ulster side to retain their title in twenty years.

If anything ever proved just how competitive Ulster is then that fact cannot be over looked.

Clones today then plays host to the old and the new . . . Down a county who win All Irelands by instinct against a Tyrone side who have been through the school of hard knocks. Defeat in the All-Ireland Final of '86 and while Down have been collecting Sam twice this decade Tyrone have only suffered agony at headquarters, with defeat in the League decider in '92 and the All-Ireland Final last year.

But Tyrone backboned by their successful All-Ireland Under 21 winning teams are back and back after an impressive Semi-Final win over hot favourites Derry. Down booked their ticket for Clones with wins over Donegal, Monaghan and Cavan and have improved with every outing.

It promises to be one of the great games of the Championship and an acid test for both. The credentials on either side are impressive with Down and Tyrone boasting shrewd management and top class players.

The game itself could revolve around the form of two men . . . Tyrone's Peter Canavan and Down's flying machine Mickey Linden. Two years ago Linden blazed his way to All-Ireland glory and in process snuffed out the challenge of Tyrone in the Ulster Final. Tyrone have learnt a lot since then, have matured a great deal, and in Peter Canavan they have without doubt one of the greatest players we are likely to see for some time.

Linden and Canavan can play but its all down to the service they receive and thats why we can expect a real struggle for supremacy in the middle of the park.

Ulster is the best Championship despite what some people may say and today should go a long way in proving that once more.

YOUNG DOWN HEROES

Down senior successes in 1960 and 1961 gave the lead to the younger age groups of the county, and their minors reached their first All-Ireland Final in 1966, only to lose to Mayo. Eleven years later they were back at the final stage, opening with a 4-13 to 0-2 win over Fermanagh, followed by a semi-final victory over Derry. In the Ulster Final they drew with Armagh but won the replay 0-11 to 1-6. In the All-Ireland semi-final they got revenge on Mayo with a fine 2-11 to 1-7 victory, and then an even greater performance against Meath in the Final, 2-6 to 0-6. The team included several players who would later star as seniors, and, in the Ulster Final they lined out as follows:-

YOUNG TYRONE CHAMPIONS

Tyrone minor teams of the late 'forties were the first to put Tyrone on the football map, breaking the All-Ireland barrier in 1948. A later youthful squad would do likewise in 1967, when the County vocational team again broke the All-Ireland barrier by taking the Vocational Schools title in 1967. This fine young side, drawn from Intermediate and Vocational colleges, won through in Ulster and then went on to defeat Kerry in the All-Ireland final at Croke Park on 28th May 1967. The winning side was:-

THE MINORS

The Derry Team which defeated Fermanagh in the Semi Final.

The Donegal Team which defeated Antrim in the Semi Final.

THE MOST overworked pen at the recent Donegal v. Antrim Ulster Minor Football Championship semi-final did not, as one might expect, belong to one of the impoverished scribes in the Press Box at the rear of the imposing Gerry Arthurs Stand.

Instead, it rested in the hand of Derry Minor team manager Chris Brown who scribbled furiously as he watched Anthony Molloy's well-drilled Donegal outfit inflict fatal wounds on Antrim's pride and morale. And at the end of the one-sided encounter, Chris was left with the unenviable task of attempting to devise a strategy that might halt Donegal in their awesome stride.

Whether he has succeeded in this connection we shall see this afternoon when the north-west scoring machine pit their many-sided skills against a Derry side that have found their path to the decider rather more laboured. While Donegal rampaged through Down and then humiliated Monaghan before burying Antrim without trace, Derry slithered to a narrow victory over Armagh and then forced their way past Fermanagh.

But if Donegal's rich scoring harvest to date has propelled them into pole position, Chris Brown may yet spring a surprise in terms of knocking the Ulster Minor League champions out of their stride. Derry have an enviable record at Minor level in recent years and once again colleges' players add gloss to a line-up that is imbued with skill and drive.

Donegal have blossomed collectively but the name of David McGinley is certain to have been noted by Chris Brown in that semi-final tie — and on more than one occasion too. Indeed, the Derry manager quite likely used a copious supply of ink to chronicle McGinley's contribution to Donegal's ongoing success.

Not that they are a one-man show. There is a sharpness and cohesion in defence that has all but suffocated all opposition to date while the midfield and attack apparently need only a glimpse of the posts and the ball is on its way either over or under the bar.

But Derry are not without their own particular talents and that's why today's showing has an extra-special aura. There's a sense of anticipation not always associated with the "curtain raiser" — a feeling that the fare on offer can surpass that normally provided.

Whatever the outcome — and may the best team win — one thing is certain. The standard of Minor football in the province is healthy, no doubt about that. Some of the Minor matches in the championship have been superb advertisements for the game and indeed our senior brethren could take a leaf out of the youngsters' book.

And hopefully the Ulster Minor surge will not end until the third Sunday in September when perhaps the biggest trophy of all will be brought back to Ulster.
