Refereeing Matters in 2002

NEW GEAR FOR REFEREES

It was decided last year to provide a choice of colours for the Referees' gear. A small sub-committee of inter-county referees agreed to liaise with O'Neills, the outfitters. Eventually, a number of different outfits were shown to all the Inter-County referees at their meeting in Athlone and they chose the colours now being worn this summer - red, green and black with green stripes.

CLASSIFICATION OF REFEREES

In the National League this year a much larger number of referees was used - 49 in football and 38 in hurling. Some managers were unhappy at what they felt was the appointment of inexperienced referees. But the National Referees' Appointment Committee felt that the list of referees for championship matches needed to be expanded and the time to do this was during the leagues. As Pat McEaney, one of our top referees himself, put it well — "If Larry Tompkins wants to try out Diarmuid O'Sullivan as the Cork football team, he tries him out in the league." But all the referees appointed in the league came up through a clearly defined progression path in the refereeing systems.

Grade of Referee:	Grade 1	Club Referee
	Grade 2	Inter-County or Provincial Referee
	Grade 3	National Referee

Within these grades there are different levels:

The Club Referee:	Level 1	Game up to and including U14 years
	Level 2	Games up to and including U18 years
	Level 3	Adult Games

The Inter-County or Provincial Referee:

Level 1	i)	Provincial League and Championship games up to and including U18 years.
	ii)	Provincial Inter-Club Leagues
	iii)	Post-Primary Competitions
Level 2	i)	Provincial League and Championship games at U21, Junior and Intermediate games
	ii)	Secondary Provincial Competitions
	iii)	Third Level Competitions (except Sigerson Cup and Fitzgibbon Cup)
Level 3	i)	Provincial Club Championships
	ii)	Sigerson Cup and Fitzgibbon Cup

The National Referee:

Level 1	i)	All-Ireland Club Championships
	ii)	All-Ireland Championship at U18, U21, Junior and Intermediate games
	iii)	National Leagues
Level 2	i)	All competitions

DIFFICULT DECISIONS

Reading through the Playing Rules of Hurling and Football one would think that every eventuality is covered. But at this year's Championship game between Westmeath and Carlow the football landed on the goal-post, right on top of the goal-post, and then went out of play. Was it wide or a point?

Clarification has now been given: "A ball which drops on the top of the goal-post shall be treated as wide." Rule 3.1 A point is scored when the ball is played over the cross-bar between the posts by either team.

ADDITIONAL TIME

When the Referee tells the lineman that there will be one minute additional time why does the public address announcer now announce — "At least one minute additional time will be played at the end of normal time"? The Referee is entitled to add on further time if there is a stoppage after the time to be added on has been signalled. This announcement is to try to bring home to people that normally the time signalled and announced will be the time added on but there can be additions to it.

Successive Derry – Donegal Ulster Finals—1992-3

Today's Derry v Donegal clash is at the semi-final stage but it should not be forgotten that these same two counties contested two successive Ulster Finals during the 'nineties---1992 and 1993. What was even more important --- following both those Ulster Finals, the successful counties went on to win their first ever All-Ireland titles, Donegal in 1992 and Derry in 1993.

1992 :- DONEGAL 0-14, DERRY 1-9.

Donegal's road to all-time glory began when they met Cavan at Breifne Park and were held to a draw, 1-15 apiece, but they made no mistake in the replay at Ballybofey when they won by 0-20 to 1-6. This was followed by a sixteen points victory, 2-17 to 0-7, over Fermanagh in the semi-final and they now faced Derry in the Final. Derry, on the other hand, had accounted for Tyrone in the first round but only overcame Monaghan after a replay at Celtic Park, 2-9 to 0-7. The second period, however, saw them play with a never before experienced commitment that swept them to victory on a final tally of 0-14 to Derry's 1-9.

Donegal:- Gary Walsh, John Cunningham, Matt Gallagher, Noel Hegarty, Donal Reid (0-1), Martin Gavigan, Martin Shovlin, Anthony Molloy (capt.), Brian Murray (0-1), James McHugh (0-2), Tommy Ryan (0-2), Joyce McMullan, Martin McHugh (0-4), Tony Boyle (0-1), and Declan Bonner (0-3). Subs used:- Barry McGowan and Sylester Maguire.

Derry:- D. McCusker, K. McKeever, D. Quinn, T. Scullion, J. McGurk, H. Downey, G. Coleman, B. McGilligan, D. Heaney, A. Tohill (0-1), D. McNicholl (0-1), D. Cassidy, E. Gormley (0-6), S. Downey (1-0), and D. Bateson. Subs used:- D. Barton (0-1), J. McErlean and Joe Brolly.

1993:- DERRY 0-8, DONEGAL 0-6

The situation was reversed the following year when both counties again reached the Ulster Final. Derry overcame Down by 3-11 to 0-9 in the first round and then faced Monaghan again in the semi-final, but there were no draws this time as Derry triumphed by 0-19 to 0-11. Donegal's passage was a 0-12 to 0-9 win over Antrim at the first hurdle and then victory in a replay, 2-16 to 1-7 over Armagh. The sides then met at Clones on 18th July, a day of torrential rain that turned the newly laid St. Tiernach's Park into something of a quagmire. It was obvious that it would be a low scoring game and so it turned out.

Donegal led at the break, 0-5 to 0-4, but it was Derry who were in front at the final whistle, 0-8 to 0-6, Donegal managing only a single point in the second period.

Derry:- Damien McCusker, Kieran McKeever, Tony Scullion, Gary Coleman, Fergal McCusker, Henry Downey (capt.), John McGurk, Anthony Tohill (0-1), Brian McGilligan, Brian McCormack, Damien Barton (0-1), Damien Cassidy (0-2), Stephen Mulvenna, Dermot Heaney, and Enda Gormley (0-3). Subs used:- D. McNicholl (0-1), J. Brolly and K. Diamond.

Donegal:- G. Walsh, J.J. Doherty, Matt Gallagher, B. McGowan, M. Crossan, P. Carr, M. Shovlin, B. Murray, Michael Gallagher, J. McHugh, M. McHugh (0-1), J. McMullan (0-1), D. Bonner (0-1), M. Boyle (0-2) and J. Duffy (0-1). Subs used:- M. McShane, M. Gavigan and A. Molloy.

Put Coaching On The Agenda - Raising the Game through Quality Coaching

Dr Eugene Young Director of High Performance Planning

To be an effective organisation the GAA needs seven key areas that interlink and operate in harmony. It needs a Strategy, Structure Systems, Staff, Style, Shared Values and Skills. We have several of these well established but here I want to focus on staff and skills in relation to coaching.

Achieving Coaching Excellence is a lifetime commitment for those who are dedicated to this aspect of the game. If a team under performs often the coach gets the wrap. A coaching course gets you out of the blocks, but continuing coach development leads to quality. The old Northern Ireland Institute of Coaching (now Coach Northern Ireland) kept Ulster coaches abreast of different generic courses. We all have a need to continually update.

Following my recent presentations to eight of the nine counties, quality coaching was emphasised as a prerequisite to quality players. Coaches need to be prepared to step outside the comfort zone, think outside the box, continually challenge themselves and not give the impression that they have all the knowledge. Quality coaching is needed throughout the system.

PE and Games in Primary schools is fundamental to incorporating good body management and skills development. The lack of full-time coaches in counties and the geographical spread of schools make it impossible for coaching officers to have a regular input into each school where required. School / Club links are key in this respect with the latter being proactive seeking ways of getting regular access to the primary schools to deliver quality coaching on a more regular basis.

The second rung on the ladder is the secondary and grammar schools. This parallels underage developments at club level. Although some teachers give freely of their time, more need to be encouraged to follow suit. Principles of schools should value the input that success in Gaelic Games gives to the life of the school. After all they are keen to use this success to market the school and recruit young people.

Much criticism has been levelled at the quality of coaching in clubs. This ignores the many hours that volunteers put into the promotion of the sport within their parishes. Club coaches need to be nurtured through one-day coaching seminars as recently took place in Cavan. County Boards need to be proactive and encourage such programmes.

The GAA system is designed to encourage participation and excellence. Quality grass-roots development is key to building success at the top. But senior All Ireland success is not plentiful in Ulster. Core basic skills of senior county players are questioned? Strength and conditioning is missing! Key elements for developing quality players needs to be addressed within clubs and counties. Ulster has now qualified over 900 level 1 coaches. How many of you are active coaches. If you are please register with me now (preferable with an email address as well as full postal address) to ensure that you are circulated with regular updates on courses and developments. It time to lift the profile of coaching in Ulster to ensure Quality is delivered.

It's time for both counties to stand up and deliver!

• By Michael McGeary - Sunday Life •

It's time for Donegal and Derry to stand up and deliver in this afternoon's Bank of Ireland Ulster Senior Football Championship Semi Final.

Both have genuine championship credentials, but neither has been put to the test in the current championship campaign. Mickey Moran's men had facile victories over both Cavan and Down while Derry's comprehensive victory over Antrim was always on the cards.

Effectively for both sides the real championship begins in earnest today in Clones with the winners securing a final showdown against Armagh.

The consolation for the losers is a place in the All Ireland football championship qualifiers.

For a team with the best league record of all in the 90s, the Oak Leaf men treated this season's league with great contempt, their only reward, a win and a draw which inevitably led to relegation. But Eamon Coleman has kept his nerve, insisting that everything will be all right come the championship and so far who can argue.

He may be right, of course. If they can reproduce the form they displayed against Galway in the third quarter of last year's All-Ireland semi final they won't be far away, especially if big Enda Muldoon can stay clear of injury.

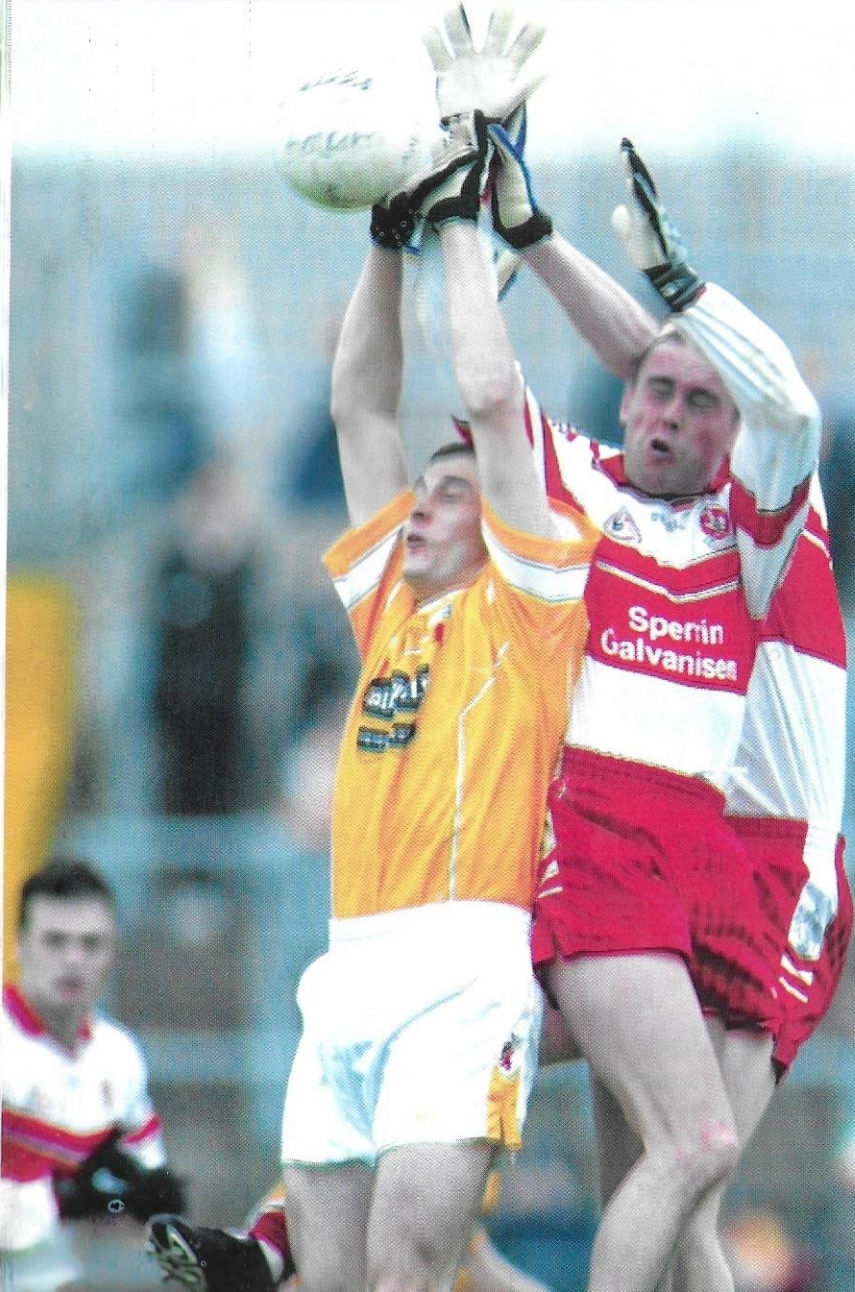

Ballinderry's All Ireland club championship success is also bound to be a bonus, but Donegal have prepared well for this championship and without shouting from the rooftops they genuinely fancy their chances.

There was a tendency not so long ago to dismiss Mickey Moran's men as a one man team, but now there is a growing realisation that there's much more to this side than Brendan Devenney.

They finished joint third in the ultra competitive Division 1A of the Allianz League and are a much more rounded outfit than last season.

But they still tend to take too much out of the ball, a failing which cost them dearly in the crucial league outing against Roscommon.

Is the GAA just a sports organisation?

No. While the promotion of Gaelic Games is the primary activity of the GAA, there are other very important elements to the association like promotion of Irish language, culture and musical heritage. The GAA is, above all, a community organisation that provides a sporting and social outlet for the locality.

What has the GAA contributed to the wider community?

As well as promoting and managing Gaelic Games since the association was founded in 1884, the GAA has put a great deal of its energy into providing facilities in every parish in the country. At today's prices almost 2,600 million has been spent on the development of an infrastructure for sporting, cultural and community activity.

Why does the GAA place such an emphasis on community?

Because in the 120 years that the GAA has existed its strength has been its connection with the people. Gaelic Games at club and county level have created a sense of identity with one's home place. In turn, that sense of identity has generated a loyalty among the members to a club and/or county team. The GAA belongs to the people.

In the past the GAA has found a place with every section of Irish society. What about the future?

In the future the GAA must be inclusive; it must reach out to the entire community on the island regardless of gender, religious beliefs or political opinions. This is important in ensuring that the GAA continues its growth and development as a modern association meeting the needs of a new century. The GAA can do this while remaining a uniquely Irish association committed to the values and the ethos of its founders.

Is the GAA still a predominantly male institution?

The situation is changing all the time and it is important that the participation of women in all aspects of the association is actively encouraged. The Strategic Review Committee has recommended that both Ladies Football and Camogie be integrated fully into the association and enjoy full membership. Off the field more and more women must be encouraged to become involved as administrators and mentors.

Are there other areas in which the GAA must develop?

One of the most important areas to be tackled in the immediate future is the proper provision of games for everyone. The main focus of the GAA has been the provision of good club and inter-county competitive structures and it has been immensely successful in doing this. But while the elite players at every level are well catered for, the ordinary club player is denied sufficient and regular games. Also, there are insufficient outlets for those who wish to participate solely on a recreational (non-competitive) basis. The Strategic Review Committee has made specific recommendations in this area including: the preparation of agreed fixture programmes, provision of at least 20 games per annum for adult club players spread over a period of not less than eight months, development of recreational games, ensuring club league programmes are not interrupted by the unavailability of inter county panel members.

Apart from the promotion of games, what else can the GAA contribute to the local area?

As well as providing leisure and social activities for all ages and genders in the community, the GAA club should also become involved in supporting local development, promoting cultural activities, schools and contributing to community infrastructure.

What are the main challenges facing the GAA in the future?

There is a need to examine the changing demographic structures in Ireland, the shift from rural to urban environments, and to ensure that the GAA is in place to attract new members and provide for them. However, the rural areas must also be given close attention and the GAA club should be at the centre of all activities, including rural renewal projects.

Antrim v Down (Junior Hurling Final)

BY JOHN CAMPBELL (Belfast Telegraph)

Antrim have a major hurling ambition this year - to win all the championship trophies that matter which are on offer in Ulster. They have already gone some distance towards achieving this goal having captured the provincial Senior and Minor championship titles following victories over Down and Derry respectively last Sunday.

Today the Saffrons aim to take another step along what they hope will be the road to a clean sweep when they confront Down in the Junior championship decider - a match that, while it is full of intriguing possibilities, also helps to underline the vital role that this particular championship plays in the ongoing development of hurling.

While all the Down players are drawn from 'non-Ards peninsula' clubs, Antrim are represented by a shoal of players from the lower divisions of the All County league. Overall, this means that competitors who might not otherwise get the opportunity to don their country colours are presented with the chance to attain provincial honours.

Reigning champions Donegal were certainly last year's surprise packet, thundering to the title after some consistent displays but this time round they surrendered their prize when they fell to the Saffrons. The fact that the north-west side had four players unavailable because of suspension did not help their cause but there is no denying that Antrim, under the astute guidance of Gilly McIlhatton, fully deserve their place in the decider.

Similarly, Down have beaten Cavan and Tyrone en route to today's encounter and have achieved this with a side that is an amalgam of youth and experience and which indeed represents the 'best of the rest' outside the big three clubs - Portaferry, Ballycran and Ballygalget.

Paddy Branniff and others have been making considerable efforts to keep Down hurling on a steady course and success today would provide a further spur to their efforts in this respect although former Antrim senior goalkeeper Paddy Nugent, playing at centre-half-back today, and Gilly McIlhatton's two sons will have something to say about that, no doubt!

Incidentally, Paul Muldoon who is one of Gilly's right hand men on the sideline is a former manager of Armagh. The other selector is Peter Regan.

Junior hurling may not enjoy the profile and status that is attached to the senior championship arena but there will be no lack of intensity, commitment and pride on offer today in an environment which poses a challenge for all the players on view.

Derry & Donegal IN THE CHAMPIONSHIP

Derry and Donegal have clashed on fifteen occasions in the Ulster Championship, with Derry ahead, having nine wins to Donegal's six.

Derry's Years of Success:-

1906, 1920, 1921, 1961, 1962, 1977, 1978, 1993 and 1998.

Donegal's Successful Years:-

1923, 1945, 1979, 1989, 1990, and 1992.

FIRST MEETING :- 1906.

1906 :- DERRY 0-18, DONEGAL 0-2

Derry and Donegal first clashed in the Ulster Senior Football Championship when they met in a first round game at Derry in 1906. It was a "first time" for both counties --- it being Donegal's first ever appearance in the championship, while Derry had entered a team in 1904 but failed to field, so this was also their debut. Eight counties contested the series in 1906, Fermanagh being the only absentee. Teams were seventeen a-side and Derry were comfortable winners at the close, finishing a good sixteen points ahead --- the recorded final score-line being probably the total scores. Little or no record of the game was published, the only team to hand being that of Donegal, whose 19-man panel was as follows :-

E. Boyle, N. McFadden, J. McFadden, J. Barr, O. Curran, E.P. Gambion, P. Coll, T. Coll, P. Boyle, N. McBride and C. McBride (all Gweedore), J. Gallagher, and P. Naughton (Bundoran), P. Reilly (Newtowncunningham), A Dwyer (Glenties), P. McCallion (Fahan), G. Campbell, P. Mullin and J. Campbell (Burt).

Derry were due to meet Monaghan in the semi-final, but gave the Oriel County a walk-over, Monaghan going on to win the title by defeating Antrim in the Final. Donegal then withdrew from the Ulster Championships altogether and did not compete again until 1919, when they overcame Tyrone in a first round game but then lost to Cavan, the ultimate champions, at the semi-final stage.

LAST MEETING:- 1998.

1998 :- DERRY 1-7, DONEGAL 0-8

The sides last clashed in the Ulster Championship when they both reached the Final of 1998. In a rather poor quality game on Sunday 20th July of that year, Derry eventually emerged victoriously by virtue of a last gasp goal scored by the colourful Joe Brolly. At half-time it was three points apiece and, with time running out, it looked as if the title was heading towards Donegal when, 24 seconds into injury time, Brolly pounced and scored the all-important goal that gave Derry a 1-7 to 0-8 victory.

Derry:- Eoin McCloskey, Kieran McKeever, (capt.), Sean Martin Lockhart, Gary Coleman, David O'Neill, Henry Downey, Paul McFlynn, Anthony Tohill, Enda Muldoon, Gary Magill (0-2), Dermot Dougan (0-1), Eamonn Burns (0-1), Joe Brolly (1-2), Seamus Downey and Joe Cassidy (0-1). Subs Used:- Dermot Heaney, Enda Gormley and Geoffrey McGonigal.

Donegal:- Tony Blake, Barry McGowan, John Joe Doherty (capt.), Mark Crossan, Damien Diver, Noel Hegarty (0-1), Noel McGinley, Jim McGuinness, Martin Coll, John Duffy (0-1), Adrian Sweeney (0-1), John Gildea, Manus Boyle, Tony Boyle (0-3) and Brendan Devenney (0-2). Subs used :- James Ruane, James McHugh and Brian McLaughlin.

Strategic Review Report - Questions Answered

• THE GAMES •

Are there any plans to try and spread the Hurling message to counties where the game is considered weak?

Extensive proposals are now in front of the GAA dealing with hurling in the weaker counties. It is proposed that six counties be identified and a programme introduced designed to bring those counties to a competitive level in the championship within years.

That sounds ambitious. How will you go about it?

The programme will be fully costed and money will be allocated by the Central Court and the Four Provincial Councils to support the implementation of the plan.

What about other weak counties?

They will be catered for as well. A special development programme will be produced to help raise the standard of hurling and the profile of the game in other counties, staff to be appointed, on a full-time, part-time or voluntary basis within each county and plan to work on the development of hurling.

What about football?

It is envisaged that 10 counties which have not been successful in either hurling or football over the last fifty years will be selected for special investment to raise their standard.

That all sounds good. But what about the players who do not make it of the top club or county level but who want to play the games?

It is important that these players, whom we refer to as 'recreational' players, are catered for. We need to encourage these people to play by providing them with a proper series of games. Also, we should look at the possibility of developing indoor versions of football and hurling.

Isn't it true that for players who are involved at a competitive level with their club the structure and number of games is not perfect.

Yes, the Strategic Review Committee identified that there is a problem in the provision of a properly structured programme of games for players. We believe a games programme should be agreed at the start of the year at every level and rigorously adhered to. Penalties should be imposed if the fixture plan is not observed.

How many games should a player reasonably expect?

The minimum number we believe should be twenty per year.

All of that would have an impact on other areas, such as refereeing. Will that be a problem?

It shouldn't be if we work hard on the recruitment and training of referees. While enhancing existing recruitment projects, we should also endeavour to change the environment in which the abuse of referees is commonplace.

That leads us to the rules. Are there any proposals to change the playing rules?

Firstly, it is recommended that changes can only take place every three years. The committee has suggested that for the national league of 2003-2004 teams be reduced to 13 a side in an attempt to increase the flow of the games and eliminate bunching.

New Colour Coded Ticketing for Croke Park Nua-chóras Datha Ticéad Páirc an Chrócaigh

Getting to Croke Park Bealach chuig Páirc an Chrócaigh

In order to cause minimum disruption both for our patrons and for the local community a new colour coded ticketing system has been introduced for all games in Croke Park.

From now on your ticket will contain details of the new system. Colour coded signage will direct you to the correct turnstile and seating block for your ticket.

Please note you will only be able to enter and exit the ground via the correct colour coded route. Please do not try to gain access at other points.

Stewards will be on hand at key points to help direct you on your journey, which may be different from that used previously.

Ticket checks will be in operation at the main street entry points into the Garda vehicle exclusion zone and at subsequent points on the approach routes as well as the turnstiles. Please co-operate with the stewards in having your ticket ready for checking and by following their directions.

Church & General Cumann na mBunscol

Today's Exhibition match between Derry and Donegal gives the young boys a rare opportunity to show their skills on the provincial platform.

The enthusiasm and talents displayed by the children is testimony to the prominence given to the promotion of Gaelic Games within the Primary Schools of both counties.

The teachers who currently represent these counties on the Committee of Cumann Na mBunscol Uladh have made most significant contributions to the development of G.A.A. activities at school, club and county level.

Kevin Toner, Development Officer of Cumann Na mBunscol Uladh, is a key worker with his club, Bellaghy Wolfe Tones. He serves on the Development Committee of the Derry County Board, is a referees' assessor and acts as umpire at inter-county games.

Kevin's talents as a question setter and quiz master have won the unanimous praise of all those who have participated in the annual Cumann Na mBunscol quiz over the past six years.

Matt Trolan has achieved much success with his club Ballinascreen over the years. He has served his club both as Chairperson and Manager. He also guided Ballinderry Shamrocks to a County Title.

In two consecutive years he managed Derry Minor Teams who were runners up in the All Ireland Championship Finals.

During his student days he starred for St. Joseph's College of Education and was included in Jim McKeever's All Star Selection.

For the past two years Kevin and Matt have acted as co-ordinators for the Indoor Competitions of the Cumann.

Padraig Daly, Assistant Secretary, Cumann na mBunscol Uladh, is a member of a family whose involvement in the promotion of Gaelic Games extends far beyond the boundaries of their native Ballyshannon.

His brother Tom is the Treasurer of the Ulster Council G.A.A. His sister, Breege Scott, has served as Secretary of Cumann na mBunscol Dun Na nGall, whilst another brother Michael is well-known Gaelic Games correspondent both in radio circles and in the print media.

Donegal delegate, Michael Weed, a Galway native, won sever Cumann na mBunscol county titles during his term as teacher in Scoil Cholmcille, Letterkenny. In earlier years he played football in Dunshaughlin, Co. Meath.

Another Donegal delegate, Kevin Diver, acts as coach to the Donegal Development Squad and is currently Secretary of Muff, Donegal's youngest club. He too has had much success with his school's teams in various Gaelic competitions.

The commitment and hard work of these dedicated teachers and their colleagues throughout Ulster should ensure that continual promotion and development of Gaelic Games in the schools of our Province.

Three-Quarters of a Century Ago - 1927

A HECTIC YEAR FOR DONEGAL

In 1927 Donegal exited from the Championship when beaten, 0-8 to 1-1, by Armagh in the opening round. Prior to that, however, they had a very hectic year. On Sunday 13th March 1927 they travelled to play Cavan in the Dr. McKenna Cup at Breifne Park, for what turned out to be a marathon encounter. At half-time Donegal led by 1-2 to 1-0, and at the final whistle the sides were level, Donegal 2-2, Cavan 1-5. It was decided to play extra time, ten minutes each way, but Donegal failed to score in the added period while Cavan added three points to win by 1-8 to 2-2. Donegal travelled by train to Bundoran that morning and lined out as follows :- W. O'Neill (gls), J. Harvey, H. McGlynn, W. Strain and J. McManus (all Letterkenny); A. McDevitt and J. Hanrahan (Glenties); C. McDyer, capt. (Cloghan); W. Quigley, Manus O'Flaherty and J. Drumm (Castlefin); J. Carey (Carrigans); T. Gallagher (Ballyshannon); J. McCarthy and D. Taylor (Moville).

Donegal then protested to the Ulster Council and a replay was ordered. This took place at Ballyshannon on 10th April 1927, with Donegal winning this time by 1-1 to 0-3. They lined out :- O'Neill, Drumm, McCarthy, McDyer, Taylor, McDonnell, Harrison, McGlynn, O'Flaherty, Brady, Byrne, Doherty, Scanlan, Hannigan and Roarty. They went on to reach the McKenna Cup Final only to be beaten by Monaghan, 2-7 to 2-3, at Clones on 8th May 1927. Their team was :- W. O'Neill, M. McCarthy, M. Drumm, C. McDyer, D. Taylor, C. McDonnell, J. Harrison, J. Carey, M. O'Flaherty, H. McGlynn, J. Hanrahan, T. Gallagher, J. Byrne, W. Scanlan and W. Roarty.

DERRY SHARED ELEVEN GOALS AT BELFAST

Seventy-five years ago the Ulster Council staged a double header first round programme in the provincial series at Belfast on Sunday 22nd May 1927. In the opening game Antrim scored a very narrow win over Tyrone by 1-9 to 0-11, while Cavan overcame Derry in the second contest. This one developed into an eleven-goal thriller with a final tally in Cavan's favour on a score-line of Cavan 7-7, Derry 4-3. Neither Derry nor Donegal took part in the Ulster Junior Football Championship of 1927. The Railway Cup inter-provincial series was re-introduced in 1927 and Derry's Hugh A. Mullan was honoured with an Ulster jersey.

The twenties, in fact, were very much "up and down" years for Derry. Monaghan, Cavan and Antrim proved their bogey teams during the 1912-1918 period but they crossed the 1919 first round with a win over Fermanagh only to fall to Antrim. In 1920 they scored one of their most successful wins ever when they defeated Donegal, 0-11 to 1-2, in the opening round but lost to Cavan at the semi-final stage. In 1921 they again conquered Donegal, 2-1 to 0-3, in the first round, and overcame Antrim, 1-4 to 0-3, in the semi-final, but lost to Monaghan, 2-2 to 0-1, in the Final, a game originally fixed for Derry, but was postponed when the Monaghan team was arrested on their way to the Final. It was re-fixed twice and was eventually played in 1923, only to lose the game on a protest. They did not take part in the 1924 or 1925 Championships but returned in 1926 only to exit to Tyrone. Then came 1927 and that eleven-goal thriller at Belfast.
